

BARB BEATON

Barb Beaton is a woman who knows how to get things done. When the concept of HCBC developing Online Education was first brought forward, Barb took the reins and ran with it. She has been instrumental in coordinating Access Education Institute, Software development programmers and HCBC together towards the final goal of HCBC's own website based Online Learning program. Barb found numerous sponsors and brought them on board with their support and finances. Barb gently "bullied" everyone at HCBC to keep to the schedule, write the courses and to stay focused on the end result. Without Barb Beaton, the HCBC Online courses would still be only a great idea.
