"Dear Members"

Are you getting the most from your HCBC membership? Part One

The most obvious benefits of an HCBC membership is the $5,000,000 Liability insurance, the $30,000 Accidental Death and Dismemberment Insurance and the Transportation insurance for Non-Owned horses. With the importance of insurance in consideration of value, this alone is a pretty good reason to join. If you are a current and certified coach, you also receive a discount on your Coaching Insurance with Capri, as a benefit of certification and HCBC membership. Members can also purchase discounted option travel insurance, tack insurance and members named perils insurance for your horse.

There is so much MORE that members can get from their HCBC membership. If you are reading this in a PPHJ magazine that you subscribe to, you will have received a HCBC members discount on your subscription fee.

HCBC members have full access to our Affinity Program as well as Equine Canada's. There are many opportunities to save for HCBC members starting with:

ACCENT INNS: HCBC Members receive Preferred Corporate Rates at Accent Inns throughout BC. In order to receive the discount you must state that you are a Member of HCBC. Call 1-800-663-0298 or visit www.accentinns.com

AVIS RENT-A-CAR: When making a reservation with Avis Rent-A-Car, please use the Sport BC Avis Worldwide Discount Number (AWD#): S497200. This code will ensure that HCBC members receive discounted rates on car rentals at any time, including during peak seasons.

KUBOTA: HCBC members receive discounts on Kubota equipment or participate in the incentive program. The member can make a choice between taking current Kubota incentive programs or the KED 18% discount off the Canadian MSRP (Manufacturer's Suggested Retail Price) for Kubota power units (Tractors, Utility Vehicles, Excavators, Carriers and Wheel Loaders) and a KED 10% discount off the Canadian MSRP of any Kubota branded

These affinity programs are direct HCBC membership benefits. Be sure to take advantage of the savings your HCBC membership provides you.

Over the years there have been many fires, floods and other disasters that have seriously affected our members. HCBC has produced Disaster Preparedness booklets free of charge to members. In addition HCBC has put together a database of haulers and barns that can take displaced horses. This was accomplished by working with our membership for the greater good of horses in BC. While we sincerely hope you will never have to use this benefit, it is there when our members need it.

Members can enjoy courses from our Website. Some are free, some are free to HCBC members and the rest are at a reduced fee for HCBC members. We will continue to build on our website education programs in the future, offering more opportunities for our membership. Go to the Education section of our website to access the courses.

HCBC has worked to provide recreational riders some unique resources to enable them to ride safer on the roads. Horse Council BC has produced a Road Safety Handbook for Equestrians with information about road riding and tips to help keep riders safe. As an appendix to the Road Safety Handbook, there is a page of Pre-Ride Checklists that you may find useful. There is also a Road Safety Rack Card designed to educate motorists, pedestrians and cyclists on how to treat equestrians on public roads. This is available to Horse Council BC member clubs for distribution in their communities to driving schools, Autoplan agents, cycling clubs or public libraries. Horse Council BC has just introduced Emergency ID for both you and your horse along with bright vests to help members stay visible when riding on the road. Call us at 1-800-345-8055 or 604-856-4304 (in Lower Mainland), or e-mail recreation@hcbc.ca to order. If you are a member who rides on the road, you should take advantage of the information and products that have been produced with you in mind.

Are you a high school student that would like a few extra grade 10, 11 and 12 credits for graduation? HCBC is the only province successful in having the Equine Canada English and Western Rider programs accepted by the Ministry of Education for the purpose of receiving education credits. This is a benefit of joining HCBC as non members would not be able to take part in the Rider programs.

Long Term Equestrian Development - What is it?

The first two stages covered in the Long Term Equestrian Model are "FUNdamentals" and "Learning and Training to Ride". In the LTED each stage has a target chronological age but these stages also apply to target learning stages for all ages of riders. Any person learning to ride enters into the beginner stage and progresses along into each subsequent stage as they learn and acquire new skills.

"FUNdamentals" applies to a target age of 3-8, and anyone learning to ride.

The General objective of the FUNdamental stage is to enable children (or beginning riders of any age) to explore the fun experience of horses while learning within a peer group. Emphasis is on learning safe technique in handling the horse mounted and unmounted, developing core skills of riding, developing correct position, developing stability and familiarity with grooming, handling and equipment care skills. Along with this physical fitness goals would include balance and agility, positional strength and flexibility. New riders develop reaction times, coordination, physical endurance and resilience as they grow stronger in their riding. The LTED also has Mental Skills goals for this stage that would include concentration, relaxation, positive participation, personal rewards and social skills in a group riding session. Riders in this stage would be recommended to have a lesson frequency of 30-50 minutes per week and moving to towards twice a week as their fitness and skills develop.

Join HCBC
Today!

"Learning and Training to Ride" is the second stage recognized in the LTED and applies to the target chronological age of 8-14, but the principles are applicable to any rider that is moving from a beginner rider forward to further skills development. The general objective of this stage is to develop and consolidate basic equestrian skills (aids and position), introduce independent decision making and fundamental mental training such as visualization and relaxation. Also important is the emphasis on physical fitness and good training habits. If they are interested, this is the level where the rider can be introduced to competition in a limited, age and experience appropriate level for the rider. Riders at this stage are increasing their range of technical skills, working on new skills and consolidating what they are learning. At this stage riders may participate in training 3-5 sessions per week, depending on their lifestyle and goals.

The Long Term Equestrian Model is a guide to optimal training and development of riders at any age and riding discipline. The LTED provides the coach with scientific information and a systematic approach to developing riders. Parents can use this guide to help them understand athlete development as it applies to age of their children. Rider's can use this guide to learn to understand more about the process of learning to ride. Whether interested in competition or not, the general directives and guiding principles will still apply.

If you are interested in learning more about the Long Term Equestrian Development principles ask your coach or request a copy of this document from coaching@hcbc.ca

Vaulting CDI June 10-13, 2010

The first ever FEI vaulting competition organized and hosted by Canada will be held June 10-13, 2010 at the Chilliwack Heritage Park. Spectators are encouraged to come out and watch this exciting sport, as well as watching qualifying competition for World Equestrian Games. Over 180 Vaulters are expected to take part in the event, so here is your chance to watch all levels of vaulting up to World Class competitors.

HCBC Book Sale Fundraisers

Would your club like to do some easy fundraising? HCBC is happy to present our Club book sale fundraising program. Any HCBC member club can take part in this program. It's just like a "Tupperware party" and easy to do at any club meeting or event. All you do is give your members a copy of the bookstore catalogue, they then fill out an order form for the books they would like and give the club back the form with payment. The club collects the orders and payment from their members, fills out a master order form and sends this back to HCBC with a cheque for all of the orders minus 15%. The 15% is the club's to keep. HCBC will then send the books to the club for distribution amongst the members who ordered. Contact Lynda in the HCBC bookstore for your fundraising package or email bookstore@hcbc.ca

Beware of Spammers and Scammers!

Recently a member called to let us know that she received a phone call from a man saying she had expressed interest in Natural Horse Products. The member was not aware of any time she had filled out a form showing interest. He was promoting natural horse wormers and all she had to do was give him her credit card number and he would ship the product to her. The member was wise enough to ask him to email her the information first and that was the last she heard from the caller.

Inboxes are full of spammers trying to fool readers into giving out credit information and they are getting quite creative, some come across as real and believable. HCBC would like to remind all members that there are a lot of people looking to take your hard earned money, so be careful!

Orville Smith & Zaria Hayes

Zaria Hayes Wins "HCBC Zone 8 Youth High Point Award" Submitted By Orville Smith, HCBC Zone 8 Rep

Horse Council BC Zone 8 continues to sponsor the "HCBC Youth High Point Award" for 2010. This program is open to all Zone 8 horse shows and all disciplines. The award is presented to the junior rider that has accumulated the most points, by competing in a number of classes, at the end of the show.

On May 9th, 2010 the "HCBC Youth High Point Award" was presented to Zaria Hayes by Orville Smith, HCBC Zone 8 Rep, at the "WILD & WOOLY" Spring Schooling Show. This show was hosted by 100 Mile & District Outriders in 100 Mile House, BC. The criteria for the award was based on Showmanship, Hunt Seat Equitation, English Pleasure, Horsemanship and Western Pleasure.

2010 Recreation & Industry Grant

Submitted By Ruth Donald, Recreation Coordinator

Horse Council BC (HCBC) together with Equine Canada (EC) would like to invite HCBC club and affiliate members to apply for a Recreation & Industry Grant (RIG) by June 30, 2010.

About the Fund

As of 2010, all Horse Council BC members are now required to purchase a Equine Canada membership at a cost of $5 per individual. It has been agreed that 30% of the total EC membership funds collected will remain in BC in the form of grant funding for non-sport projects or programs that benefit recreational riders and the horse industry as a whole. For 2010 the total RIG funding available will be at least $20,000.

Who can apply?

Any Horse Council BC club or affiliate member that is in good standing with HCBC for a minimum of 12 months and whose current members are HCBC members as well. Also any committee of HCBC whose projects meet the required criteria can also apply.

What will grants be awarded for?

Grants will be awarded to projects or programs that benefit BC's recreational riders or owners as a whole. All capital projects must be situated on public or publicly contracted lands (i.e. municipal, regional or crown lands).

The following would be eligible for grants:

- Equestrian trail construction
- Trail and trailhead upgrade, improvement and rehabilitation
- Bridge and water crossing construction, upgrade or rehabilitation
- Horse camp sites and facilities such as corrals, high lines, toilets, fire rings, stock watering facilities
- Horse trailer parking facilities at a trailhead or community arena
- Trail & facilities signage
- Community arena and facilities construction, upgrade, improvement or rehabilitation
- Equestrian safety clinics open to all HCBC members
- Educational seminars related to environmental issues of horse ownership (i.e manure management, pasture management, etc)
- Educational seminars related to horse welfare issues (i.e. responsible breeding, basic equine nutrition, pest and parasite control, equine health and equine first aid)

Note: Educational seminars must be free of charge or at nominal cost to all members of the community.

What is the deadline to apply?

Applications must be postmarked or received by the Horse Council BC office on or before June 30, 2010.

The eligibility criteria, guidelines and the grant application form for the 2010 Equine Canada and Horse Council BC Recreation & Industry Grant are now available online at www.hcbc.ca. For more information or to obtain a hard copy of all forms please contact Ruth Donald, HCBC Recreation Coordinator, at (604) 856-4304, ext#109 or by emailing recreation@hcbc.ca.

Chance - Bottle Feeding at 12 Days Old

Dream A Second "Chance"

Submitted By Andrew Thomas

When Lea Thorson awoke at 3:00 a.m. from incessant nudging on her arm, she opened her eyes to see the expectant face of a colt standing beside her. He seemed to be telling her, "I'm hungry!". That was the morning of Tuesday, May 11th, 2010, less than a day after an unknown man contacted the Kamloops SPCA to report that he had found an abandoned foal at the side of a road near Pinantan Lake. The SPCA was quick to respond and immediately took the foal to the Kamloops Large Animal Veterinary Clinic.

The chestnut coloured colt was deemed to be no more than 24 hours old and near death. The results of a blood test indicated the foal had never nursed from its mother. There were no antibodies in the colt's blood that would have been present if it had nursed and received colostrum from its mother. Not having nursed was a definite blow to the colt's chances for survival.

Despite the lack of anti-bodies, the doctors and staff at the Veterinary Clinic decided they weren't going to give up on the little fellow so easily - so they began looking for a way to provide him with a second chance.

"I know the good people at the Kamloops Large Animal Veterinary Clinic very well," explains Lea, "They knew I hand-raised an orphaned foal two years ago, so I was at the top of their list of people to call."

With the knowledge that the four ESL students staying with Lea and her husband at their ranch were ready and eager to help, Lea went to the Veterinary Clinic to weigh up the situation.

"By some strange twist of fate I actually had an amount of colostrum in my freezer from one of my mares that had lost a foal, so I brought it with me." says Lea.

Chance - 1 Day Old

While the colostrum was being prepared and fed to the colt, Lea and the Clinic's staff discussed what to do. The Clinic was prepared to do assist in getting the foal out of immediate danger, but they didn't have the ability to watch, care for and feed him 24/7. So, Lea agreed to adopt the foal and the clinic started him on plasma and fluids intravenously and prepped him for the trip back to Lea's home at Dreamscape Ranch.

While Lea and one of the ESL students were making their way back with the colt, the rest of the students were at the ranch busily preparing a stall with bedding and heat lamps for added warmth.

Chance - 2 Days Old Weak But Standing

On that first night a cot was put in the stall so Lea and one of the students could take shifts feeding the colt every hour and then getting some sleep between feedings. Because he was still too weak to stand they did their best to feed him while he was lying down. "It seemed obvious to us that he was making a real effort to save himself - he just wasn't giving up."

At 3:00 a.m. Lea awoke to find the plucky little colt up on his feet for the first time and ready for his next feeding. "It's amazing to think all of this took place on what we believe to be his first day of life. From the man who found him at the side of the road, to the SPCA who responded so quickly, the amazing and dedicated team at Kamloops Large Animal Veterinary Clinic, and our wonderful, helpful caring students... Stephanie, Melanie, Sonja and Julie... everyone involved played a huge part in giving this special guy a second chance at life."

To honour the thoughtfulness and care that everyone has shown, Lea thought it would be fitting for the colt to be named 'Dream A Second Chance' ... or 'Chance' for short. If you would like to learn more about Chance's ongoing journey please visit www.DreamscapeRanch.com/chance.

If you would like to assist in providing Foalac and other essentials for Chance the Kamloops Large Animal Veterinary Clinic has graciously stepped up and offered to accept donations. Contact information for the Clinic can also be found at www.DreamscapeRanch.com/chance.

Equine Studies at UCFV

Introduction to Equestrian Coaching and Instruction

This is the first of two courses to help you prepare for the Equine Canada Instructor/Coach Evaluation. Participants should be comfortable and confident around horses. This course will focus on English style of riding. Topics include the theory of coaching, discussion and lesson plan development using 20 common teaching subjects, and how to prepare for an Equine Canada exam.

CHILLIWACK - Trades & Technology Centre

(80205 AGH ES01 C9A) Maureen Walters, 10 sessions, Tues, 6:30-9:30 pm, $495. Starts Oct 12.

NEW! Practical Horse Care

It is easy to become overwhelmed and confused with many different views on correct horsemanship. Horse ownership does not need to be complicated if one learns correct and classical methods. This short course will cover a variety of topics, such as an introduction to basic anatomy, feeding and nutrition, routine health care, hoof care, common ailments and common unsoundnesses and how it relates to conformation flaws. There will be a discussion on competitions, equine activities, and clubs and associations. The Saturday class will allow for hands-on application and real-life experience with the horse.

CHILLIWACK - Trades & Technology Centre

(AGH ES03 C9A) Maureen Walters, 7 sessions, Wed, 6:30-8:30 pm and Sat Nov 27, $195. Starts Oct 20.

All classes are held at the University of the Fraser Valley, Trades and Technology Centre, 5579 Tyson Road, Chilliwack, BC.

BC Vaulters Welcome the World to Chilliwack

Submitted By Barb Schmidt, CVI Chilliwack Organizing Committee

Over 150 equestrian vaulters ... from "Future Champions" to Canadian Champions to those who hope to be this year's World Champions ... will arrive in Chilliwack during June to mark an historic milestone for this sport in Canada. From June 11-13 at Heritage Park, Chilliwack will host the first Canadian-organized vaulting competition ever sanctioned by the FEI.

The CVI Chilliwack and Future Champions event will draw athletes from Canada, the United States, China, Great Britain and Australia. A CVI (Concours de Voltige International) is an elite level vaulting competition which offers athletes the opportunity to score qualifying points for the next world championship or World Equestrian Games.

CVI Chilliwack will also be a Future Champions event which means spectators will see not only this year's WEG hopefuls, but also delightful performances by vaulters as young as 4 years of age. There is no charge for admission and the public is encouraged to come out and witness this truly exhilarating sport which combines gymnastics, acrobatics and dance on the back of a moving horse.

In an equestrian vaulting competition athletes are judged on their performance, harmony with the horse and on the ability of their horse to maintain the desired partnership with its vaulter and lunge. The horse score makes up 20 percent of the vaulter's final score. Vaulters perform twice, first in a series of seven compulsory moves designated for their level of performance. The second event is the freestyle in which each athlete performs a unique one minute routine choreographed to music. Vaulters can appear individually, in a pairs routine known as pas de deux and as part of a team where up to three vaulters perform on the horse at the same time.

CVI Chilliwack and Future Champions will begin at 2:00 pm on Friday, June 11 with the preliminary compulsory exercise tests for athletes of many different levels running through until about 6:00 pm. On Saturday, June 12 from 8:30 am to 5:00 pm, audiences will be treated to a variety of freestyle performances by both international athletes and rising stars of all levels. In the evening from 7:00-8:00 pm, athletes in the highest international class will perform their Technical Test, which is a one minute freestyle routine with five required elements. On Sunday, June 13 from 9:00 am to 12:30 pm the CVI athletes will perform their second round freestyle routines, culminating with the awards ceremony at 1:00 pm.

Vaulters from several BC vaulting clubs will be featured in this competition. In the CVI's first level of international competition, BC athletes will include: Jessica Bentzen, Mt. Arrowsmith Vaulters, Parksville; Tauren Deluca, Triple M

Vaulters, Langley; Danielle Kennedy, Sky Vaulters, Surrey; Darla Ricka, Raven Schmidt and Chesley Wierks, Cheam Vaulters, Chilliwack. In the highest CVI level, BC will be represented by the current Canadian champions Alisa Schmidt and Colin Schmidt of the Cheam Vaulters, Chilliwack. All of these BC vaulters will be vying for spots on the Canadian Equestrian Team that will be heading to WEG 2010. The vaulting component of the Team can be comprised of as many as three women and three men plus reserves. Three Canadian women, including BC's Alisa Schmidt, have already earned the necessary qualifying points and are short listed for WEG.

Canadian Paralympians Complete Hat Trick Victories at WindReach International CPEDI3***

The largest FEI Para-Equestrian event was held May 28-30, 2010 in Ashburn, ON. The WindReach International Para-Dressage CPEDI3* is an official qualifier for the 2010 World Equestrian Games to be held in Kentucky.

Both Lauren Barwick of Aldergrove, BC and Ashley Gowanlock of Langley, BC won all of their classes over the 3-Day competition, including the Freestyle test. A respectable feat when competing against some of the world's best.

Lauren rode her Paralympic mount Maile in the Grade 2 Freestyle test to an impressive score of 78.750%, which was the highest score achieved by any rider during this competition.

Other top Canadian scores included a win from Ashley Gowanlock of Langley, BC in the Grade 1b Freestyle class with a score of 64.250% on Donnymaskell, owned by Sandy Mitchell; a second place finish from Tara Kowalski of Vancouver, BC in the Grade 1a Freestyle class with a score of 66.083% riding MJ Fatal Attraction owned by Philippa Keegan and Rachael Tipper; and a second place finish from Eleonore Elstone of Langley, BC riding Why Not G owned by Kelleigh Kulcsar in the Grade 4 Freestyle test.

The WindReach Para-Dressage International CPEDI3* was host to 39 international riders from Australia, Bermuda, Chinese Taipei, Ireland, Japan, Mexico and the US becoming the largest FEI Para-Equestrian event ever held in North America.
